
The pet of the month is...

Foxy

Foxy is a nine year old red Labrador Retriever that is owned by Steve and Sheri Depies. She can be found sleeping on either Steve and Sheri's oldest sons' bed or on the couch. Her favorite toy is a tennis ball and she loves to chase it around the house. She also enjoys going for car rides and going camping with her family. Foxy loves treats of all different kinds and according to Steve will eat any treat at any time. Steve and Sheri also have an outdoor cat named Butters and Foxy loves to chase him.

Once Sheri made a pound of bacon and left it on the counter to cool a little before eating. When she came back the bacon was gone and Foxy had a very guilty look on her face. Another time while Sheri was working from home she had everything ready for dinner and had to wait a little while until everyone got home so she went back to work. Once everyone was home she went back to the kitchen to put dinner on the table. Everything that she had made was still there except the roast. She had no idea where the roast had gone until she noticed a little bit of it in Foxy's bed, she then knew where the roast had gone.

We have enjoyed working with Foxy and the rest of her family and can't wait to continue to work with her and the rest of the family.
